Elizabeth Dream Girl Of New Jersey Man Since She Was Five

NEW YORK, June 19.—(AP)—A New Jersey man who went to London to marry the Princess Elizabeth—arrived back in the United States today.
 British authorities refused to admit Albert E. Lange, of North Arlington, N.J., to Great Britain yesterday, when he announced to them his intention of seeking out and marrying the heiress presumptive to the throne.
 "You're undesirable," officials in London said.
 They put him on a plane and sent him home.
 "But ever since she was five, I've seen her in my dreams," Lange argued.
 British officials gave him only a cold ride.
 The stylishly dressed, 36-year-old engineer arrived back at LaGuardia field today. He said the Princess Elizabeth was still his dream girl.

Newspapers Call for End of CBC "Discrimination"

OTTAWA, June 19.—(CP)—The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association in a brief today to the radio committee of the Commons called for a "prompt reversal" of the CBC's practice of "discriminating" against newspapers in the issuance and transfer of radio station licenses.

"NEWSPAPERS should have the right to use radio in all forms and techniques," said the CDNA, which represents some 90 daily newspapers.

Saying that the development of radio broadcasting may make it necessary for newspapers to own radio stations in order to stay in the business, the brief said to the board of governors of the CBC "it is an arbitrary decision of the government of the CBC."

"This is not by virtue of any provision in any statute or regulation relating with broadcasting," said the brief. "It is an arbitrary decision of the government of the CBC."

Thousands Flooding To Marian Congress

By ROBERT CLARKE

OTTAWA, June 19.—(AP)—By the train and automobile, thousands of persons continued to pour into this bustling city today—a city rapidly swelling to nearly double its normal population of 200,000—to take part in the Marian congress, the Roman Catholic religious festival at which the faithful are offering prayers for world peace and paying tribute to the Virgin Mary.

Official opening of the five-day congress took place yesterday at ceremonies in the Basilica marked by installation of James Cardinal McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto, as Pappa Legate. A welcome reception followed at the Chateau Laurier at which the cardinal, Mackenzie King declared that "unlike any other religious festival, this Marian congress is a festival of peace."

Despite the solemnity of the religious proceedings, the atmosphere pervaded the city as downtown sidewalks were jammed with thousands of strollers. In the evening, there was a presentation by the city of the sovereignty of Mary, "Our Lady of the Crown," at the repository of the Holy Land, and an estimated 75,000 packed the open-air stadium.

Says Anglo-Saxons Kept From Canada

By ROBERT CLARKE

CALGARY, June 19.—(CP)—More than 90 per cent of the immigrants brought to Canada in the years from 1921 to 1931 were of the Roman Catholic faith, and everything possible was done to keep people of Anglo-Saxon origin out of the country, said Hugh C. Farthing, K.C., chancellor of the Supreme Court of Canada, at the Wednesday afternoon session of the 23rd meeting of the Synod of Bishops.

Clergy and lay delegates to the Synod meeting unanimously approved a resolution that was adopted by the synod, the resolution stating that the racial discrimination against immigrants of Anglo-Saxon and British origin and the preference shown other groups. They called that strong position as the prime minister, the minister of natural resources, the leaders of all political parties, and the members of parliament. They referred to the discussion of social service for further consideration and action.

U.S. Tourist Trade To Climb in Canada

By ROBERT CLARKE

WASHINGTON, June 19.—(CP)—A Commerce department report on tourist travel yesterday estimated that American visitors soon will be spending in Canada at the rate of $280,000,000 a year. Tourist expenditures in Canada last year amounted at $250,000,000 of which nearly half ($207,000,000) was spent in Canada. The estimate that tourist travel will soon reach a peak is based on the "leading export," the report said. "Travel by Americans will be particularly heavy in Canada, Mexico and the Caribbean area in the next few years."

Britain to Push Ahead With Relief Plan

Await Moscow Stand on Europe Aid

LONDON, June 19.—(Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Bevin told the House of Commons today that Britain would "push ahead with all possible energy" to turn to the greatest possible advantage the offer of economic aid to Europe made by the United States secretary of state, George C. Marshall.

SPEAKING in a debate on British foreign policy in Europe, Bevin said the French and British governments were awaiting a reply from Moscow to the proposal that British, French and Soviet foreign ministers should meet during the week beginning June 23 to discuss problems of working out an arrangement to the advantage of the Marshall plan.

Convinced that Marshall's offer was "a great opportunity for Europe," Bevin said he was not far from "getting things done." Bevin said he added that he could not usefully say anything until a reply was received from the Soviet government.

The debate was opened by former Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who said that after a coup d'état in Hungary, which led to the resignation of Prime Minister.

Officials Meet On Wage Dispute

Clayton Adams, chairman of the provincial industrial relations board, who was recently appointed mediator in the dispute between the City of Edmonton, and the Edmonton City Employees' Federation, met with the city commissioners executive members of the federation Thursday morning in an attempt to bring about a solution of the dispute.

The federation is seeking a $20 monthly increase for all employees, to meet the ever increasing cost of living. This request was refused by the city commissioners, and on appeal to the city council by the federation, the city commissioners confirmed the commission's decision.

An offer was made by the city commissioners during negotiations to classify employees into four groups of clerks and stenographers, for an increase of $20 above the 1939 wage level. This offer was rejected by the federation.

Canadian Land Claimed for Spain?

Locate Cross-Marked Tree Bearing Scars Made in 1790

VICTORIA, June 19.—(CP)—Search soon will be made for an ancient Indian legend to contain details of a 157 year old claim of a Spanish explorer to lands on Vancouver Island. Historians disclosed yesterday that the first step has been accomplished with the finding of a paper cross carved on a tree which is believed to have a link with the explorations of a Spanish explorer, Manuel Quimper, who sailed the coast in 1790.

From ancient charts and a diary left by Quimper, the location of the cross was located at Alberni, in the Bay of Quinte. Four miles southeast of Victoria, B.C., the location was located. A Victoria historian, Cecil French, made the discovery.

Controls Off New Houses

Govt. Takes Action To Speed Building

OTTAWA, June 19.—(CP)—Removal of rental and eviction control from all new houses, apartments, duplexes and other self-contained housing completed after Jan. 1, 1947, was announced by the Commons today by Finance Minister Abbott. This disclosure was accompanied by two additional announcements:

1. Controls are being removed immediately from vacant lots used for motor car parking or sales and gas stations owned by oil companies.

2. "Complete decontrol" of commercial accommodation will take effect next spring.

Of the housing decontrol step, Mr. Abbott said this was felt to be desirable "as an encouragement for the construction of housing accommodation for rent at a time when it is so urgently needed."

A PRICES BOARD order issued simultaneously with Mr. Abbott's announcement also released from control all places of public entertainment and halls or rooms used for public meetings and garage let separately from the housing accommodation to which it pertains.

Dealing with commercial accommodation, the order stated that the government did not intend to ask parliament for authority to retain rental and eviction controls on this type of accommodation.

OTTAWA, June 19.—(CP)—The radio committee of the Commons was told yesterday that Canada was "a dumping ground" for United States broadcasting and heard it argued that the only way native talent could be developed fairly and adequately was through a system of protection which would increase the "ridiculously low" costs now burdening imported programs.

Tighten Regulations On Canned Meats

Discovery of quantities of home-canned meats on the market which had become contaminated by improper sterilization during the preserving process has resulted in a tightening of department of health regulations, it was announced Wednesday.

Under the new regulation, Dr. R. M. Bow, deputy minister of health explained, any person processing meat must be licensed and be subject to inspection. He may also be required to furnish to a qualified officer of the department samples of any dyes or preservatives he might be using in the canning process or any samples of the meat being used before and after processing. After examination in department of health laboratories, if the samples show that they might be dangerous, the entire stock of the processor may be seized.

Dr. Bow explained the commercial canneries, which do inter-provincial business are subject to regular inspection by the federal department of health, although the Alberta regulations would also cover these industries.

Approximately 130 species of lice are catalogued.

Radio Brief

which we submit is unjustified, unfair, and contrary to the public interest.

"THE INFERENCE to be taken from the decision was that the performance of stations now owned by newspapers was inferior to that of other privately-owned stations, or that newspapers not now owning stations could not be expected to match the performance of newspapers in the radio field.

"The inference is wholly unsatisfactory and highly distasteful to the newspaper publishers of Canada, whether they own radio stations or not," said the brief. "Furthermore, in any city which two or more separately owned newspapers are published, it is obviously greatly unfair that one publisher should be able to own and operate a radio station while his competitor is stopped from doing so by government action."

"IT IS OUR considered judgment that the experience of publishing information and entertainment possessed by newspapers on the whole qualifies them as the best possible operators of radio stations and whether they should be accepted or not, we are firm in the belief that there is no barrier to equity in their performance to justify the present discrimination against newspapers."

The brief said the CDA would support organizations which had called for a revision of existing radio legislation and for the appointment by parliament of an independent body to take control of radio out of the hands of the CBC and the government of the day.

"FINALLY and emphatically the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association asserts that, no matter in what body control of the problem may be vested, parliament in formulating legislation of this kind should be free to serve the public and to serve the spoken word are free to serve the spoken word according to democratic standards."

OTTAWA, June 19.—(CP)—The Association of Canadian Advertisers proposed yesterday that a Royal Commission make a study of "necessary changes" in Canadian broadcasting and said the most important requirement was establishment of an independent regulatory body to govern radio nationally.

ITS VIEWS were presented to the radio committee of the Commons in a telegram read into the record. It said a personal appearance by association spokesmen was considered unnecessary "in view of representations already made and to save your committee's time."

The telegram said the association was a voluntary organization representing 14 companies advertising on a national or regional basis. It was founded in 1917 and was devoted to the improvement and promotion of the industry.

"Advertising is of benefit to the general public for it makes possible the distribution of goods and services at less cost by increasing the volume of sales."

matter of course. The Red papers will thunder like the victory guns, and Mr. Molotov will be heard from in due course denouncing the "interference" in Greek affairs. For that is the subject on which Soviet spokesmen, and papers are peculiarly sensitive, interference is to them a thing abhorred, except when practised by themselves.

The Soviets, Moscow seems to think, should have the sole right to intermeddle in the affairs of other states, as in Romania, Austria, Hungary, Poland. When a democracy in country intervenes—on invitation or with consent—to pull another democratic country out of chaos, that is an unpardonable violation of sovereign rights, from the Moscow point of view.

Of course the arrangements at Athens involve "interference" in Greek affairs, that being a country where interference is very much demanded in the interests of democracy, and where it is welcomed by all those who want Greece put in position to resist the under-ground tactics of armed bands and subversive agents from neighboring states.

The more Moscow protests, the clearer will be the lack of helpful intervention from Washington in making sure that the loan will serve the openly declared purpose for which it is intended.

Trade Blocking

Import-control officials in New Zealand refused to issue a permit for the entry of 12,500 cases of canned fruit from Canada, though such supplies are scarce in New Zealand at present. There may have been other reasons for barring the shipment, but the despatch comments on no suggestion, and no other reason would be necessary except that New Zealand has established a closed-economy system for the regulation and discouragement of international trade.

That is the business of the people of New Zealand, but the policy is of international concern. If they should be generally accepted, such control systems would defeat the hope that the world may escape a return to the trade-excluding policies which cursed the nations in pre-war days and did more than a little to prevent the growth of international friendship. Such artificial and hampering controls will have to be thrown overboard if we are to realize the wartime hope that inter-nation trade is to be encouraged as a means of raising the world standard of living and building up a sense of interdependence among peoples.

MY PERSONAL opinion for this drop in the number of units is that the market for new homes at present prices is just about satisfied. This does not mean that there is no demand for homes, but actually the need for homes is even more critical today than it was last year or at any preceding time. But the new homes which are being built are not being sold.

Housing Needs

by Harper Prosser, M.L.A.

The National Housing Council, set up by the Dominion government to study the housing problem in Canada, is continuing to press the Dominion government for changes in the legislation governing housing. Mr. J. E. Price, Minister of the Interior, is the man of the committee, and the council's submissions in a letter to the Minister of the Interior, Mr. C. D. Howe, at the end of this month.

The council's letter points out that the number of permits for home construction issued during the first four months of this year are well below the number for the corresponding four months a year ago in Montreal, for example, there have been 1,000 permits issued, as against 1,500 for the same period last year. This is typical of the situation across the country.

My personal opinion for this drop in the number of units is that the market for new homes at present prices is just about satisfied. This does not mean that there is no demand for homes, but actually the need for homes is even more critical today than it was last year or at any preceding time. COULD WE REACH ANOTHER
Jules Verne, the famous 19th century author, wrote a story about some men who were to build a huge cannon-bell to the moon. This is certainly not possible now, but the moon is only 240,000 miles away, and it is not beyond possibility that some day men will try to get to the moon. The solar system would have to change a great deal for our earth to be in the way in even 20,000 miles of any other planet. Nothing could fire a ball fast enough to go so far.

But let us suppose men could invent some machine that made power in itself, and could keep on doing so, such as a rocket or supersonic airplane, and suppose this machine started off to the moon. The first difficulty would be that when it got very high, even if the passengers took enough air with them to breathe, there would not be enough air for the machine to work against. In a vacuum, the power of air—the strongest bird could not fly.

But even if this difficulty did not exist, there would be another. The rocket can travel with great speed in a vacuum, but even if men could reach the moon in a rocket, the great problem would be a sufficient supply of fuel to get back to earth. And since there is no breathable air on the surface of the moon, oxygen for breathing and for burning the fuel would also have to be carried along.

Whether we shall ever see a rocket on its way to the moon or to any other planet is a different story. Of course, we must assume that the other planet, say Mars, has intelligent beings upon it, which is not impossible. If so, then in a way reason why we could not communicate with them in some way. It has even been suggested that what we imagine to be canals on Mars are really the tracks of a colossal ant to attract attention on earth. At any rate, if there are people on Mars, and if they have telescopes as good as ours, they could certainly see any rocket we wrote large enough across the desert of Sahara or across Siberia.

S. Side Blasts CNR in Junior Tussle

Play Superbly Behind 5-Hit Hurling Feat

Wally Aldridge's South Side band, up till now a bunch of nice guys who haven't hurt anyone very much in junior baseball this season, are starting to hustle. Last night at Clarke Stadium they hatched their wagon to stary VERN Callahan and pummed a 7-4 stigma on CNR.

Callahan, a lute right-hander with a heavy break curveball, was the big tie on the track as far as CNR was concerned. He whiffed 15 and limited the hammering freight gang to five blazes. To give his own cause a boost he peddled out two hits in four trips with the wiflow.

APART from Callahan there was plenty of fight from McDowell behind the plate to the-furthest pick-off lines 40 feet away in the out-garden. South Side hit well, dumping hits just over the infield and playing heads up ball all the way.

Hal Pruden, brouned CNR hurler, pitched a heady game and he didn't throw anything very fast. But just the same he was nixed 11 times. Seven misfires behind him helped spell disaster.

TWO RUNS in the first and four in the second allowed the South Side nine to coast the rest of the game. Ellis and Wynne accounted for the first-inning score, each driving in a run with one-base clouts.

Two blunders, one free pass, and singles by Stan Irvin, Callahan, and Terry West provided the South Side runs in the second.

CNR kept chipping away at South Side's six-run lead, but Callahan and his mates successfully quelled and major outstretches. Bush or Jackson clubbed a single to left, driving in two CNR runs in the second, while a bungle by Dave Ellis at shortstop paved the road home for two rallymen in the fifth.

IN A NINTH frame anti-climax cracked a single through the center to score Don Wynne with the last South Side tally.

Don Wynne, graceful first sacker with the South Siders, belted three pitches for base hits in four times up for his best performance in this season.

The victory—their second in nine games—moves South Side into fourth slot ahead of EAC, while the less unattracted CNR in third place, a half game back of Canadians.

Neat Elbowing

VERN CALLAHAN, above, was one of the leading twirlers to junior baseball here a year ago. He proved that he still has "it" in large gobs last night by setting CNR down with five scattered hits, while fanning ten. He also collected a couple of hits.

Bob Cuthbertson Hurls 3-Hitter

Legion 178 and Marshall-Wells emerged victors in Men's Intermediate football fixtures played at the west Kingsway diamond Wednesday evening. A home run by Bodnar in the fourth, along with 10 other hits, team mates during the game, paved the way for the Legion victory.

Smith with three hits and Elliott with three runs, starred for Marshall-Wells.

Brant Stops Cubs in Baseball Debut

Allows 2 Hits In Seven Frames As Eskus Win 6-3

Tommy Brant returned to Renfrew Park Wednesday night and although he required some help in the eighth inning, his debut in the Big Four Baseball League was a success, for Eskimos registered a 4-3 victory over the Cubs before more than 2,000 fans.

Brant set the Cubs down with two hits for seven innings—both made by Tony Challa—but he got into trouble in the eighth and with three runs already in and two potential hits on the path, "Fireman" Forrest Hunter was called in. Hunter quelled the uprising by getting Lane to fly to Stewart for the third out.

MILTON TRANN started for Cubs and failed to get by the first inning. Bill Price opened with a single and Doug Stevenson duplicated. Connelan hit into a double play—Cleveland to Lane—but Trann walked Morgan and Stevenson scored on Stewart's single in the eighth. Two more runs came in when Seaman slammed a single into center and that was all for Trann.

John Bass took over and Thomas was thrown out. Challa to Lase. THOSE THREE were the only runs the Eskimos counted, but they gave Brant a comfortable lead and three more counters came in before Tommy's debut was over.

Thomas beat out a hit to short in the fourth and took another base. He has three wide trying to pick him off first. Thomas was sent to Garret's out and scored on Brant's single.

WALKS TO Stevenson and Gonzalez cost him two more runs in the fifth, neither of them earned. DeMarco was charged with an error on Stewart's second ball. Stevenson crossing the plate on the same play.

Thomas drove in Gonzalez when he beat out an infield hit to second. ALL OF BRANT'S worries were confined to the eighth. Lippincott doubled to Morgan, Stevenson to Morgan, and Gonzalez to Morgan. Gonzalez to Morgan, and Stevenson to Morgan. Gonzalez to Morgan, and Stevenson to Morgan.

Hunter had no difficulty with the Cubs in the ninth, retiring two via the strikeout route.

SOLUNAR TABLES
by John Allen Knight

Edmonton Bulletin

Would you like to arrive at your favorite hunting or fishing spot in the full assurance that, within the next one to two hour period, you would find the best sport the day has to offer?

You know how it happens. Suddenly, for no apparent reason, the fish will begin to feed better, taking most anything you offer them. Birds are easy to find and they lay well for the dog. Luck is good. Then, just about as quickly as it began, activity starts to taper off until all is quiet again. Luck? Not at all. Mysterions? It needn't be! These periods of activity are predictable. They are the variable feeding periods during which the entire animal kingdom responds to a stimulus—effects of the sun and moon.

One of North America's leading sportsmen and naturalists, John Allen Knight, has made a career of charting these variable feeding periods into a scientific timetable. Day by day, you can know in advance these periods of activity in your own locality.

The Edmonton Bulletin has obtained exclusive rights for publication of these tables—the "Solunar Tables"—in this area—Watch for them starting in The Bulletin Saturday, June 21st.

DOWN

By JACK SCOTT
Pot of Gold

Mr. Pludge had no clear memory of what took him to the radio station. He recalled vaguely seeing in the door with the idea of looking around. He remembered being shown to the studio where the whole fabulous adventure took place.

The excitement and urgency he felt with the realization that he had been selected as a contestant in the famous "Pot of Gold" program, "Double or Nothing," was not a stage confronting an array of faces in the studio audience, then exchanging some flimsy remarks with the master of ceremonies, a young man wearing a bow tie with orange polka dots.

There was a hint in his mind, which absented him of the earlier questions. Most of them were fairly simple, he knew. Yet he was surprised that he had been able to answer with alacrity and even a good deal of confidence.

He had known that Fort Knox is the place where the U.S. gold reserve is stored, that General Marshall was the new U.S. Secretary of State, that Tolstoy wrote "War and Peace." He had correctly identified an orchestra selection as "Sweet Road." He remembered that there had been a kind of raps from the audience when he gave the answers with the light of the Australian kangaroo (right foot) and then a burst of applause.

"You have just won one thousand and twenty-four dollars," the announcer shouted. "Why, yes," he had said. The audience had gone wild with joy.

Ever Onward
The question had got together then. Oh, yes. He remembered in particular the $6,132 question, "What British author maintained three hospitals for wounded horses during World War?" "Why, yes," he had said. The answer, he had said, was "Ernie" Augustus Louie Lind-A-Hay."

The announcer staggered back from the microphone, his face pale. A great moment of ecstasy came from the audience.

So it went. In rapid succession Mr. Pludge knew that Erbe was the daughter of Zena and Mrs. Mats Fujiwara was 12,395 feet above sea level, that Harishandra was the 28th King of the Solar dynasty in epic mythology.

What about Car Prices?

We make cars and trucks. We ship them to our authorized dealers across the country. We establish local retail delivered prices which are published here.

Then why do we hear about cars selling for outlandish prices?

The reason is simply that more people want cars and trucks than manufacturers can supply at present. There are some people who want cars badly enough to bid up the price so high that others are willing to sell because they can't resist realizing the profit.

No, not since the ceiling prices were removed from used cars. It is just an unhealthy temporary condition. It will end as soon as demand. There is no law to prevent any man from throwing away his money or from paying a ridiculous price for an automobile.

And what is Ford of Canada doing about this?

We are turning out all the cars and trucks we can produce with the materials we can get. In 1946, for instance, we turned out more units than in any year since 1929. If the current production rate is maintained, 1947 will be an even better year.

What should you as a buyer or would-be-buyer do?

We suggest that you wait if you possibly can—and get your car or truck from a Ford and Monarch

Sharp Increase in Tea Price Serious Problem for Britain

By David Dean

(From The Journal's London Bureau)
LONDON—Britishers are traditionally addicted to tea, and their addiction is going to cost them more. Much of Britain's tea comes from plantations on the island of Ceylon. Still nominally a crown colony, Ceylon was lately granted a self-governing constitution which gives it virtual dominion status. One of the first independent acts has been to serve notice on Britain that the days of relatively cheap Ceylonese tea are over.

During the war, Britain's food ministry bought the entire exportable surplus of Ceylon tea to bulk and allocated it to other tea-consuming nations (chiefly other British dominions, including Canada, and the U.S.) through the Combined Food Board. But Ceylon's government has refused to renew the bulk-purchasing agreement for 1947 except at a price which Britain refuses to pay. In place of bulk buying, a free tea market was established in Colombo early in January, and the world's tea traders are flocking there to buy.

Step Price Hikes
The prices were enough to scare any British tea importer. Common teas which British traders used to buy for 20 cents per pound and sell after blending and paying Britain's steep import tariff, at 40 cents retail, are selling in Colombo for 30 cents at the warehouses. That would represent a price of at least $1.75 to the British consumer.

It is admittedly a scarcity price. World demand for tea is considerably greater than the visible supply from the Far East's war-battered tea gardens. And though British consumers far more tea per head than any other nation on earth, there are other determined tea-drinkers who thirsted for tea during the war years even more desperately than the British. Notably, these include the Arab countries. You could get six dozen eggs in exchange for a pound of tea from almost any Arab during the North African campaign.

Determination of these nations to get tea at any price has pushed market values sky-high, and partly accounts for the Ceylon government's desire to get back to a free market.

Serious Implications
But establishment of the Colombo market is far more serious in its implications for Britain than any short-term considerations of the world price of tea or the fact that the current British government have to be bought. Until 1939, London was the undisputed tea market for the entire world. On the city's Mincing Lane, almost all the world's tea crop was bartered.

YOUTH HOSTEL OPENED
Loch Lomond hotel, largest hotel for youth in Scotland, recently was opened and probably will be the meeting place of the first postwar conference of the International Youth Hostels Association, Glasgow reports. It was converted from a mansion by a group of boys and girls who gave 17,000 hours of their spare time to such work as cutting down trees, laying floors, whitewashing ceilings and installing electricity.

The price of tea will come down when supply catches up with demand. But a shift of the trading market to the Far East could mean serious consequences for hundreds of English trading firms families have, for generations, made their living by trading in tea.
